

Hendrick Phillips Salzman & Siegel Now Has A Local Presence In Eastern Pennsylvania

The law firm of Hendrick Phillips Salzman & Siegel P.C. (“HPSS”), which has been serving the construction industry for forty years, now has a local presence in Eastern Pennsylvania. Mr. J.T. Gallagher has started operating out of Allentown, Pennsylvania and brings with him the resources, experience, and knowledge of a law firm known nationwide for its expertise in the roofing industry and dedication to roofing contractor clients.

Mr. Gallagher got his start in construction in high school as a plumber’s helper with an Allentown-based subcontractor and has been in the construction industry ever since. He graduated from the University of Florida in 2006 with a Bachelor of Science in Building Construction and worked in construction management for over five years before obtaining his J.D., with honors, from Emory University School of Law. Mr. Gallagher represents contractors, subcontractors, specialty trade contractors, design professionals, and owners in relation to all aspects of public and private construction projects. Mr. Gallagher provides pre-construction contract review and negotiation services, pro-active consultation during on-going construction projects, dispute resolution services, aggressive representation in litigation, and everything in between. Mr. Gallagher is supported by the firm’s highly experienced partners, Mr. Stephen Phillips, Mr. Martin Salzman, and Mr. Philip Siegel, who have developed reputations for excellence in the construction industry over their careers.

Mr. Stephen Phillips has been the nation’s leading advocate for roofing contractors over his forty plus year career. He was general counsel for the National Roofing Contractors Association for over 30 years and was one of the founders of the National Roofing Legal Resource Center, based in Chicago, Illinois. Mr. Phillips has written and spoken extensively regarding construction law topics focusing on the commercial roofing industry. Mr. Phillips has been devoted to the roofing industry over his career and his contributions to it cannot be quantified.

Mr. Martin Salzman is the managing partner of HPSS. Over his forty years of practice, Mr. Salzman has represented clients on a wide range of public and private construction projects throughout the United States, starting with the review of contract terms and conditions, continuing with providing advice on problem avoidance during the projects, to involvement in dispute resolution procedures. Mr. Salzman has successfully tried construction cases in numerous forums and has been consistently recognized as a top-rated construction litigation attorney by multiple publications.

Mr. Phillip Siegel’s practice has focused primarily in the areas of labor/employment law, including defense of OSHA citations, contract consulting, and construction litigation, including representation of general contractors, subcontractors, and suppliers, all on a national basis, in his over twenty years of experience. Mr. Siegel regularly speaks at seminars for professional groups, including several roofing contractors associations, and has lectured extensively on a wide variety of construction topics.
